The IBA was founded in the 1990s by Dean Chance, a former Major League Baseball pitcher.

While successful since its formation, the IBA's World Championship is widely considered to be a "stepping stone" title – one which up and coming boxers win on their way to gaining the opportunity to fight for a more prestigious organization's championship title, but has gained some acclaim by its titles being held by many notable boxers.

The long list of the notable IBA title holders includes Floyd Mayweather, Oscar De La Hoya, Sergey Kovalev, Arturo Gatti, Bernard Hopkins, Mike Weaver, Sugar Shane Mosley, Roy Jones Jr., Roberto Duran, Glen Johnson, Laila Ali, Mia St. John, Holly Holm to name a few.

Recently India's very own Nutlai Lalbiakkima became the 1st professional boxer to win the IBA Intercontinental Title followed by his defence of the title on 27th November 2021.
